PROF. SALZMANN TALKS HERE ON REFORMATION

Delivers Sermon in Morning Worship; Meets with Pre-thes

Professor S. F. Salzmann of Wartburg seminary at Dubuque, Ia., delivered the sermon on the main services on Reformation Day. Taking a portion of scripture from the 23th Psalm as his text, he spoke on the subject "Christian Freedom of the True Lutheran."

The Wartburg choir, under the direction of Professor E. Niemohn sang two selections, namely: "Wake, Awake" by Nicolai (arranged by Prof. Niemohn), and "Grant Unto Me the Joy of Thy Salvation" by Brahms. Ruth Marquart played the offertory.

Services in the evening featured a talking picture, "The Kindled Flame" based on Luke 12:49—"I am come to send fire on the earth; and what will I, if it be already kindled?" The picture dealt with the Diocletian persecution of the Christians around 304 A. D.

Erwin Franke led the liturgy for this service. A vocal solo, "How Long Will Thou Forget Me", by Carl Pflueger, was sung by Richard Burge. George Helmkamp played the organ.

From 1:30 to 3:00 p. m., Prof. Salzmann met informally with those Pre-Theological students in convocation hall and afterwards with individual "pre-thes" in Grossmann hall. At the general meeting he discussed the courses which he felt would better prepare students for their theological studies at the seminary.

ALVIN JR.

Dean and Mrs. Fritz Blessed with Baby Boy.

On Monday, Oct. 27, at high noon, a new joy entered the lives of Dean and Mrs Alvin E. Fritz in the form of a 7 pound 10 ounce baby boy. After much deliberation, the proud parents decided to name him Alvin Fritz, Jr., after his famous father, who is our Dean of Men here at Wartburg.

When Dean Fritz was asked if he had any comments to make, he said, "As yet he has no teeth. The only thing that he has developed to a marked degree are his vocal chords!" The Trumpet staff together with the whole school wishes to extend their congratulations to Dean and Mrs. Fritz.

SHALKHAUSER LEAVES FOR EAST

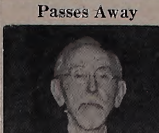
Rev. Shalkhauser left Tuesday morning on the advance trip for the choir tour. His trip will go as far as Pittsburgh, Penn, although it is not definite as to whether the choir will go that far East.

The tour will extend to eastern Iowa, Illinois, and possibly farther east. The choir has invitations to sing in Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, and Pennsylvania. On his advance trip, Rev. Shalkhauser will definitely line up the towns where the choir will sing. The choir will leave on the afternoon of February 27 and will return to the campus some time in March 15.

The two Sundays prior to the choir tour will be given to three one-tour concerts. One of these concerts will be sung definitely in Farnersburg, Ia. The other two possibly will be in Cedar Falls and West Union. Two of the concerts will be given on one Sunday. The final concert of the tour will be held in Waverly on March 23. The Parish House of St. Paul's Church will be the scene of this concert, and it will be sponsored by the Brotherhood of St. Paul's Church.

At present the choir is preparing eleven numbers to be sung for the spring concert season.

Passes Away



REV. J. BECKER DIES SATURDAY

Funeral Services Will Be Held Here Tuesday Afternoon.

Rev. John Becker, who for many years was a member of the Wartburg college faculty, passed away at his home Saturday morning. He had been ill only for two days, but has been failing for some time.

Rev. Becker came to the United States at the age of 17. He received his elementary and advanced training in Germany. Immediately upon his arrival in the U. S. he entered the Wartburg seminary at Mendota, Ill. He graduated in 1891. He served parishes in Fox Lake and Welcome, Minn., Johnson's Creek, Wis., Emerson, Ill., and Rock Creek, Ia.

In 1909 he came to Waverly as a member of the faculty of the pro-seminary department of Wartburg Normal college. Here he taught German, Latin, and Greek, as well as religion. After 21 years of service, he resigned because of failing hearing. In addition to his services to the college, he was active in the church at large, served on various church committees, notably the inter-synodical committee. He was also greatly interested in New Guinea missions and was the inspiration to various missionaries in that field. He was also the author of various books and pamphlets, including a book on Holy Communion. He received his honorary D. D. degree from Dubuque in 1939.

Funeral services will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 11 at 2 o'clock from St. Paul's Lutheran church in Waverly.

14 STUDENTS GO TO L. S. A. MEET

Franke To Lead Panel Discussion; Dr. Haefner Accompanies Group.

Fourteen Wartburg students left yesterday noon to attend the L. S. A. convention at Ames, Iowa, over the week-end.

Last year the meeting which is an annual affair was held in Northfield, Minn., and also was attended by a group of Wartburgers.

Erwin Franke, president of the campus League, will lead a panel discussion on the subject of Christian liberty, sometime during the meeting. This theme, based on Luther's treatise on Christian Liberty," was also the theme of the National L. S. A. convention held at Lake Geneva, Wis., this summer.

The students who are attending the meeting are Mary Wagner, Esther Weiss, Joyce Knabe, Esther Fritz, Alberta Gaida, Arlene Orth, Antonia Winter, Emma Klein, Al Walck, Raymond Saathoff, Eldon Roever and Erwin Franke. Doctor Haefner is also attending with the group.

Graduate Teachers Attend Convention

Wartburg graduate teachers were well represented at the I. S. T. A. convention which was held Nov. 6-8 at Des Moines, Iowa.

A Wartburg reunion dinner was held at 6 o'clock P. M. Nov. 7, at Hotel Chamberlain.

Prof. Bergman of Clarion, Iowa, presided as toastmaster of the informal program. Mrs. Lorraine Deizoll of the Goose Lake high schools music department gave several violin selections. Short talks were given by some of the graduate teachers of Wartburg.

Miss Wright Gives Hobby Exhibition

The first hobby exhibition of Wartburg college was held last Saturday evening in the north room of Wartburg hall. Miss Wright, art instructor, was in charge of the demonstrations.

Finger painting was the main event of the evening. Miss Wright first demonstrated the art and then let several members of the audience try their luck at the new type of painting.

The turnout for this initial exhibition was far below par, and for future demonstrations it is hoped that more students and town people will be present.

EMPEROR OTTO WILL SPEAK IN PLACE OF ARCHDUKE

Can't Come

ARCHDUKE FELIX

"KIND LADY" TO BE GIVEN

"Kind Lady," a melodrama, based on a novel by Hugh Walpole, will be the second production by the Wartburg Players this season.

The play is composed of a prologue, three acts, and a epilogue. The plot centers about a kind old lady who befriends a group of professional "spongers", who come to impose upon her.

The production, which will be given on Dec. 12, shows the result of this befriending.

Tryouts have been held under the direction of Prof. Don Tornquist, and a tentative cast has been chosen:

Henry, Edwin Neumann.
Mr. Edwards, Vernon Strempke.
Peter, Harry Stief.
Doctor, Bertrand Petrick.
Mr. Foster, Marvin Grunke.
Mr. Rosenberg, Arnold Corrigan.
Mary Mertens, Bernice Reuther.
Mrs. Edwards, Eunice Loots.
Rose, Lavonne Strempke.
Phyllis, Lois Harstad.
Lucy Helena Begalske.
Aggie, Joyce Martens.
Ada, Norma Smull.

FELIX HELD IN SOUTH AMERICA

"Substitution Will Be Improvement," Says Swensen.

Emperor Otto, pretender to the Austrian throne and older brother of Archduke Felix, will speak in his brother's stead on the Wartburg Artists' series program Monday night according to information received early this morning. Prof. A. W. Swensen, head of the college artist series committee received a long distance telephone call from Kansas City this morning saying that the Archduke has met with difficulties in South America which have prevented his return to the United States in time for his several scheduled lectures appearances."

Emperor Otto spoke in Wichita, Kans., last night before an audience of 1500 and was acclaimed a great success. He is considered by many to be a more interesting speaker than Felix, having a more pleasing platform personality than his younger brother.

The Archduke spent the summer in Europe gathering material for his proposed lecture tour this winter. He returned to New York early this fall and left that city shortly after for what he thought would be a short trip to South America in search of additional information on political conditions there, particularly connected with the European situation. Unforeseen circumstances have made it impossible for him to leave South America at the present time.

"Although the substitution came as a complete surprise, we feel that we are unusually fortunate in securing a better speaker than we had bargained for. Yes, extremely fortunate!" said Prof. Swensen in commenting on the change this morning.

Wartburg Plans Bowling Parties

Something new is being introduced in the line of all school parties at Wartburg this month. Mr. Carpenter, manager of the Waverly Bowling Alley has offered to call every Friday night "Wartburg Night" at the alleys in cooperation with the idea he has reduced the price—for these nights only—it was 75c now for 25c. The W club and the W. A. A. are sponsoring the project.

Last night the first all-school bowling party was held. The turn-out was very good for both girls and boys—and professors. We all wish to thank Mr. Carpenter for the opportunity.

Ninety-five students are employed in NYA work at the Uni-

FIRST WARTBURG PLAYERS' PRODUCTION

"I wish you happiness, my children," says father Jarrow, played by Arnold Haata, as he tells the newly engaged couple what to expect out of life. Joanna Jarrow (Lois Harstad) seems more interested in arguing with her mother (Esther Weiss) than in what her father is saying. Adrian Marsh (Edwin Neumann) is the epitome of exaggerated bridegroom-to-be. Sally Jarrow, the little sister (Dorothy Grover) plays the part of innocent bystander in this scene from the "Yes" part of "Yes and No," the Wartburg Players' first production of the current season which was given on Oct. 28.

RIOT?

Mass Shooting Faces Wartburgers

All juniors and seniors who are found within the bounds of Wartburg hall, especially the reception room, will be shot—one by one—in a mass execution Monday afternoon, Nov. 9 according to an official communique handed down from the generalissimo of the Wartburg Fortress, A. Llewellyn Rock.

A professional photographer, Mr. Kurt Clayton of Waterloo, Ia., will officiate at the execution. Professors will be shot later in their classrooms.

After each victim has been shot, the sum of 75c will be confiscated from his earthly remains, that his majesty's forces may continue to shoot defenseless individuals.

Dr. Hiltner traveled to Crane Creek near Tripoli, Iowa, Thursday evening, Nov. 6, and gave an illustrated lecture to the Luther church of the German congregation there. His topic was, "Luther and the Reformation."

LET'S THINK A LITTLE

Reformation Day came and went; Wartburg students went and came.

When it was decided to observe Reformation Day on the Wartburg campus, it was agreed that this day was to be a day of church attendance and prayer and thanks to God for the rebirth of the Christian church in the Reformation. This day was not to be a holiday in which we students could do as we pleased, or stay home if we felt like it.

We were told that. And yet, because we knew that there would be no roll taken at the services we stayed away. Here was a chance to "get away with something." And didn't we feel proud of ourselves?

Aren't we the same ones who gripe about there being too many restrictions around here. Surely, but what do we do when we are given a chance to show what we would do without restrictions? If this is the way we abuse our liberties, we will one day wake up and find that our liberties are gone.

Let's think a little.

THE PRE-THES ARE PUZZLED

The Wartburg "pre-thes" are always concerned, and very naturally so, as to which courses taken here will best prepare them for their theological studies at the seminary. Since it is self-evident that there is a limit to the number of semester hours which can be crowded into a four-year curriculum, a "pre-the" must be very careful in the selection of his courses.

Because of this concern they have frequently consulted with faculty members at Wartburg, faculty members from the seminaries, and various prominent officials of the Lutheran Church.

A wise policy, one would say. Yes, we agree—until we start comparing answers. With a startling note of conviction one tells the future minister to study the social sciences as intensively as his time will permit. For—"You are going to be dealing with people. You must have the proper training in how to handle them." A beautiful case is built up for the social sciences.

But, lo, the next man says, "Yes, the social studies are important, but a good foundation in Latin, German, and Greek is needed for theological study. If you have extra time, study the social sciences, if not, you can pick up that information later."

Slightly puzzled, the pre-the turns to another authority. "Yes, all these are important," he learns, "but you will be dealing with a highly intellectual group of citizens at times. You must be prepared to argue with them. A minister should be well grounded in the natural sciences to meet their arguments."

Another authority is likely to advise the student to major in English. "English is the tool you will be using in your work. The better foundation you have in English, the better preacher you will become. Go deep into the field of English literature, and your ideas will be broadened. You will have a wealth of material to pass on to your parishes."

From everywhere comes the advice to get a "good foundation" in speech, in psychology, in philosophy, and even in teaching methods.

Wartburg pre-thes are agreeable people as a rule. They are anxious to follow the advice and guidance of the leaders of the church.

The pre-thes don't ask much, but please!—could the leaders of the church come to an agreement as to what field we should emphasize in our studies?

QUIPS & QUIRKS
the editor's desk

So many things have been piling up in my mind of things happening on the campus in the last few weeks, that I thought I based ed some way in which to let the rest of you students in on them. Well, anyway, here I am, trying to give you something to think about, something to think about, and something to enjoy. I hope I can accomplish my purpose.

Q & Q

Last Wednesday, Oct. 29, I was pleasantly surprised and I might say overjoyed, when my good friend Emma Klein came to me and handed me a complimentary ticket to the Wartburg Players' first play given the following evening. It was really a swell play, and I was very appreciative for the players. Here's wishing them the best of luck in their future productions. And thanks a lot for the ticket ! ! !

Q & Q

By the way, have you ever heard about the football player who tried to run around his own end and ended up by dislocating his hip?

Q & Q

Overheard in Grossmann Hall one morning: "Come on, wake up! It's ten to seven already!"

Sleepy individual: "Whose favor?"

Q & Q

And then there was the dog named "NBC" because he was on a CHAIN!

Q & Q

I have been observing the actions of one Dave Volckmann the past few days, and haven't as yet been able to figure out for sure what is wrong with him. Maybe he will snap out of it as time goes along and be as he always was. Everybody but father, he is having trouble with the opposite sex again. It seems he can't quite make up his mind on certain things!

Q & Q

Did you know that we have some new football players on the Knight eleven since last Saturday? It seems the radio announcer for the Dubuque-Wartburg game mispronounced a few names during the Wartburg squad. For instance, Fred Scherle was continually being called "Schurz," and the announcer substituted the name "Stubenwall" for our handsome center Carl Stubenvoll. "Tuffy" Oberauer's name also came in for its share of punishment. First it was "Obermauer", and later Obenheer". Oh well, we are all sorry that we got to hear the game anyway and we hold no grudge against the Dubuque announcer.

Q & Q

Here's a little poem taken from one of the exchanges:

I think that I shall never see
A girl refuse a meal that's free.
A girl who doesn't like to wear
A lot of furs to match her hair.
Girls are loved by guys like me,
For who on earth will kiss a tree?

Q & Q

This is one too good to keep to myself:

Warm breath on my cheek,
Soft touch on my shoulder,
Little face pressed close to mine.
Eeek! Who let the cat in?

Q & Q

One of our subscribers who is a staunch supporter of Wartburg, would never so please over them in the Trumpet last year. I refer to the presidential straw vote taken on the campus a year ago this fall. Every time I see him (or every time he sees me) he mentions the fact that we are all sorry that we that this year, he will discontinue his subscription and demand his money back ! The next time I see him, I shall ask him WHY he didn't like it. Personally, I can't see a thing wrong with an idea like that.

Q & Q

"What this world needs is more leisure and fewer ALARM CLOCKS."—Tom Harmon (Whatever brought you to this conclusion, Tom?)

Q & Q

Congrats to Dean and Mrs. Fritz on their 7½ pound SOCIOLOGICAL FEATHERLESS S A N D (that's what the Dean calls him).

Q & Q

And now I close with a little "thoughtable" thought to those students who drive automobiles: "Even a speeder goes through life without an accident, it's just an accident"

Percy Grainger and the first Oregon number of the current season have come and gone. But not without their leaving a number of interesting afterthoughts, of which have been played up by local papers. Here's one they didn't get, however:

Two ladies from Detroit (yes, Detroit, Mich.) passing through Waverly noticed one of the large posters over town. See she to the other, "Why don't we stay for that. We can spare just one more day. This is Sunday. Let's go, stay. See the other, "Sure, stay what?"

And so they did.

Who said the Wartburg Artist series wasn't any good?

Twasn't us.

SENIORS

Esther Weiss

Situated on the banks of the mighty Mississippi river in the southern part of Iowa is the prosperous city of Muscatine. In this town of muskmelons and pearl buttons, Esther attended grade and high school.

From the very first Esther has been a shrewd business woman. In her early school days, she decided school so much that her parents had to give her a penny every day that she went. It must have been profitable because when Esther graduated from eighth grade, she was valedictorian of her class.

During her high school years she served on the staff of her school paper as chief of the editorial staff as Junior year, and as managing editor in her senior year. After graduating from high school, she worked for two years in a Muscatine sash and door company.

Very Active.

While at Wartburg, Esther has been active in many outside activities. In her junior year she served as editor of the college annual which won a first class rating. She was also president of Pi Sigma. This year as senior, she is secretary-treasurer of her class and has been selected as one of the two girls from the class to be listed in the "Who's Who in American Colleges."

This is the first year that Esther has been seen actively out in the Wartburg Players. She is majoring in social science and minoring in history and English. She is one of Wartburg's many practice teachers these weeks. Some day she hopes to get into some type of social work to work in connection with her teaching career.

Esther has several hobbies, the chief of which perhaps is photography. In the field of fine arts, and music in particular, she says she enjoys both symphonies and swing.

All we could learn about the romance in her life was that when she was a little girl, she fell madly in love with a boy who fed her licorice candy. To this day her favorite candy is licorice. (Can we infer from that statement, that she still likes boys also?)

Red

This easy-going, good natured, red headed candidate for the Bachelor of Divinity was born in the town of Wanda, Minn., where he lived until just a year ago. In relating his school days Rudy says he was always mighty scrappy." He played a mean game of marbles—but it was always for keeps. When he was very young, he raised a large flock of chickens, and once while he was away from home, the grocer and butcher sold the chickens and pocketed the money. Red attributes his strength to the chores he had to perform.

In his school days—especially high school—he took part in basketball and baseball, but never any football until his arrival at college. He also played the bass horn in the band and developed quite a knack for giving orations (yes, we noticed that at Homecoming banquet).

While at Wartburg, Rudy, so far, has won four letters in football, two in basketball, and three in baseball. As a junior he won the Hertel award which is given to the outstanding athletic and also served as co-captain of the football team. This year he is captain of the football team and has had the honor of captaining the Knights to their first town conference victory.

Red's Enthusiasts

He hists Glenn Miller and Benny Goodman as his favorite orchestra leaders, and beats a mean drum himself. Although he lives in Iowa, he is still rooting for Minnesota. He says, "Minnesota will always have my love, or don't know my Major Heoples!"

Red is a very good skater and during the winter you'll find him down on the Creek showing the boys how to do a figure "8".

The girl he marries has to be interested in sports, must be sweet, will be intelligent and good looking. But, girls, it's sad, because he has a pretty Norwegian name, Rudolph Bunne, who fills the bill. She has blond hair and blue eyes.

In closing the interview, Rudy said, "I'm interested in Hank Koob's job, but I'll settle for an assistantship to Bernie Bierman at Minnesota any day."

Oh yes, and incidentally, Red is a biology major, and that goaes may be in a biology experiment remains until after Christmas vacation.

Aftermath
No more shall we with torn and bloody hand
Take up the spade and sword for that "Defense"
Until we've rested from that hell hideous
And shouted "Victory" throughout the land.

Away! Away, they cried, and crying ran.
Today we celebrate our victory.
Today we will indulge in drudgery.
They leapt and danced together as a man.

Down through the crowded streets of Waverly
They poured, one happy throng of students wild.
Forsakers were all thoughts of studies mild.
Spent was the day in willful gayety.

O somewhere on that happy Wartburg hill
Those who had differed were dissatisfied.
Misunderstanding came and went and died
And justice took its place as justice will.

Children's Home Gets More Light

Two new light posts and flood lights were installed in front of the new addition at the Children's Home last week. Rev. C. H. Becker, superintendent, wishes to express his appreciation to the city for this improvement as it lights up the entire court at the Home.

A special scholarship is maintained at Dartmouth college for a "religious man from Missouri."

Players Prove Veracity of Ottersberg Theory

"Yes and No" Puts Reporter on the Fence.

The Wartburg Players' first presentation, "Yes and No," was a complete victory for Prof. Ottersberg. He was on no play committee, and he had no part in the play, yet I know I can confidently "his night". And why? Because "Yes and No" proved what Prof. Ottersberg has been teaching to his classes for the last twenty years. (Has it been that long, Prof.?)

No lecture could have shown as conclusively as that play did how one little word could have such an effect on so many people as almost unbelievable. In fact, since I have seen the play, I am almost afraid to propose to my girl, although I will admit (thank heaven) that her family is slightly different from the Jones family. They don't have a maid.

Considerable money was won and lost on the betting as to which would be the first "Yes" or "No" Neumann's hat or the sandwich in Al Martin's hand. The hat has been seen since, but the sandwich could not be used again. It was left on the stage floor, and the next day three football players were twenty minutes late to practice after a mad scramble for the choice morsel in question. Bill Hughes ran away from it, because he was in bed the next day.

It took me quite a while to recognize some of the players—especially Esther Weiss. I hear that poor Esther had quite a job in keeping her hair on the top of her head. Why don't you get a "butch" haircut, Esther?

There was no doubt that every one enjoyed the production. But if anyone got their money's worth it was the "Triple Alliance" of Hank, Russ, and Herb. They made more noise than the other 250 people present, and Prof. Tornquist's one worry was that Hank would burst a blood vessel and sue the Dramatic Club for damages.

"Yes and No" was indeed a comedy. But it certainly had a moral. After the first two acts, I made up my mind I should marry an orphan and live like Time I had seen the epilogue. I was thanking my dad for having courage enough to ask mother.

ON THE SHELF

New books which cover a wide range of subjects have recently been placed on the shelves of Wartburg library. A brief resume is here given of each one.

"Martin Gumbert writes a biography of the Sanger who, after observing the battlefields, especially that of Solferino, became the founder of the Red Cross. This book, "Dunant-The Story of the Red Cross", not only is a biography of Mr. Dunant, but also of the organizations of the men and other events of the period.

"China Through a College Window" gives a portrayal of present-day life among Chinese students. Mr. W. G. Sewell, the author, tells of experiences which he had while teaching in two Christian colleges in China.

"Pan is a psychological, social and "economic point of view, gas warfare is discussed in "Chemical Warfare" by Curt Wachtel.

If you are interested in reading adventures of a radio news director, A. A. Schechter, the author of "I Live on Air" tells how he was forced to go out and get his own since the newspapers in the earlier days of radio did not supply news for them. There also are chapters on modern broadcasting.

Alvin C. York wrote a diary of the first world war and of his life and work in the Cumberland Mountains in Tennesee in "Sergeant York."

"Who's Who In Music," contains not only biographies but also has other miscellaneous articles, directories, a catalog of music, and a list of radio stations and phonograph records.

"Good Taste in Dress" by Mrs. F. W. McFarland, is an informal discussion on principles of dress selections, partially accepted and their adaptation to the personality and needs of young girls.

Zoll Haraszti writes a historical novel of the life of Galileo in "The Star Gazer."

Reproduction in color of 86 paintings by American artists is found in Peyton Boswell's "Modern American Painting." It also has a historical sketch of American painting, with biographical notes about the artists.

"War Propaganda and the United States" by Harold Lavine and James Wechsler reviews propaganda used by various countries to sway the opinion of United States to their side in the present war. It also calls attention to the different methods used in this war compared to those used in the first world war.

The story of codes and ciphers from the time of Egyptian inscriptions to the present time is told in "Secret and Urgent; the Story of Codes and Ciphers" by Fletcher Pratt.

A nine-student campus commission has been named at New York State College for teachers to draft regulations designed to keep the campus clean and orderly.

The first part of this week Coach Ca-C replayed part of last years Upper Iowa game for the benefit of Doc Schaefer and Coach Schenk. Fred always had a weakness for children and especially Schenk.

Kirkland says its fun to write letters to her, even if she does live in Waverly.

At this time the first name was crossed out by the Editor) thinks Rev. Schlueter is a great guy because he likes sports and movies. That is not all Mr. Hughes thinks.

Miss Roark must be interested in the cheer leading. Did you notice she moved her seat from the middle of Convo hall to the front row at last week's pep meeting.

Our friend Fred Emkes, has been climbing all over himself of late. He has the hives.

At this time I wish to inform one of our Ernie Beckmanns—the one with the D in the middle, that the next time he has to bolen while in the Library that he should choose a more noisy moment.

That Don Wan Donald Heron from Marquette, Ia. has been engaged in some POWL play of late. (Her name is Henry).

We hear that Dot Krueger is so interested in Genetics that she is going to raise some mice for experimental purposes. Incidentally she's going to call every one George.

It is with deep regret that we went to press with out having the dope on Volksmann? ? ?

Until NEXT TIME then, I remain flutterly yours.

HOBNOBBING

BY HANNAH

Hannah'll never forget . . . . Swensen before the lyceum program began . . . striding up and down aisles . . . rushing on and off the stage . . . beckoning to others . . . and instructing them. "Now first of all BE CALM!"

Tornquist before "Yes and No" . . . smoking cigarettes . . . fussing . . . "I'm not worried." . . . Guess he wasn't now used have been according to remarks of the audience afterwards . . . "crazier than advertised" . . . "Unusually so."

"Wish I'd had binoculars for that final scene" . . . The condition of Rachel's memory during the play caused his instructors grave concern . . . he usually keeps his memory running in high . . . But the reason why in the play . . . it is on Lo-is because . . . (He is cultivating that habit nicely recently.)

A little hobnobbing reveals . . . Wiedenriders means "never the three" . . . which explains Rich's strange behavior . . . He's been noticed shouting, "I'm a fish, a fish" . . . Now I am a frog . . . Skeel, my loyal subjects, kneel! . . . Consequently, a Dramatics club scout has picked him up for future use.

'Tis rumored that a certain junior has seriously believes as Supt. Bartel said, "that her husband should look just like her Daddy" . . . so, on discovering the "very image of Daddy" strolling on the city bridge, she yoohooed . . . "do you want a ride?" And it turned out that he wasn't Daddy after all . . . Rather brazen for a girl your age, isn't it, Dorothy?

Hannah would like to pull something on Nusch or Brinkman, Basel or Masdorf . . . but their names don't have double meanings . . . They do? . . . well anyway . . . they don't pun easily. Except maybe that there's a Basel in Switzerland . . . But that can't be . . . How could he be there when no one's found a Mordorf there? . . . Besides he was at Wartburg hall just yesterday . . . so Hannah'll have to pun on someone else.

Why doesn't someone inform "Mads" Ide that a man's given name precedes his surname . . . e. g. Jack Meyer, no Meyer Jack.

Crime Ring Exposed

At Luther League meeting . . . Boys found to have used unfair methods of gluing book to George's hair . . . to make girls lose race . . . The crime ring was led by a long-legged shady, black haired person, giving his name as Crunke . . . For some mysterious reason he was much excited . . . hurrying to eat . . . to grab his wraps . . . to stand in the entry while all the girls filed past . . . that is all but one Lorraine who is suspected to have been an accomplice in the plot . . .

But this criminal site no less confidently than the venerable student prexy when his one and only accused him of eating "like a pig at the trough" . . . These sibling affairs . . . Shouldn't Ozzie also have been invited to dine? . . . Explanation . . . he's been in Bernie's hands so long . . . he'd be a poor example of a bad example of etiquette!

And so Prof. Fritz closed his Frosh orientation lectures . . . to devote more time to orientating himself to his new schedule which now includes night lectures to his new son . . . on the uselessness of becoming excited . . . it is supposed that the boy is at the same time practicing Prof. Ottersberg's famed habit . . . .

Finally while snooping . . . Dear Santa . . .

Please rush this order for cigars . . . I have a new son . . . cigar box if desired . . . Pal A. E. Fritz.

Why, Dean Fritz, those habits aren't inherited, are they?

P. S. Don't be too generous, Santa. Fresh air in Waverly's a treat. Hannah.

Morning Worship, Song and Lectures Feature Convos

Hymns Flashed on Screen in Song Service.

Monday, Oct. 27

Rev. H. C. Thompson of Waverly was the initial speaker for the convocation programs beginning Monday. He based his talk on the text from John 13:34-35, and chose as his topic "Our Badge of Discipleship". He said, "Jesus did not use a sword to help the world, he used his own life as a weapon. He went on to say, "Love is not a passive force in our lives, but it is an actively predominent force of our faith attitude and conduct toward men." He closed his talk, leaving this one thought with us: "To hate as the world hates is human, to love as Christ loved is divine".

Tuesday, Oct. 28

Dr. Martin Wiedersanders gave an interesting talk in convocation Tuesday. He based his comments on the topic "Democracy and Education". He brought out many points for the students to think about in regard to their own education while they are living in a democracy.

Wednesday, Oct. 29

Another of the several song services planned for convocation was presented at this convocation. A new system was used. Hymns were chosen which do not appear in our regular hymn books, and the words of these hymns were flashed on a screen for everyone to see. Prof. Liemohn played the accompaniment on the piano as the student body sang such hymns as "Lost in the Night", and "In Heaven Above".

Thursday, Oct. 30

While homecoming was still fresh in our minds, Rev. Schalkhauser showed moving pictures of the events of homecoming for the Thursday program. Included in the program was a pep meeting for the football team since they were preparing to go to Dubuque the following day to play the Spartans of Dubuque University.

Monday, Nov. 3

"Happy Family Life" was discussed by Rev. Conrad Becker of the Waverly Children's home at the first convocation of this week. All factors in life revolve around the family," he said. He pointed out the reasons for this statement saying, "In the family the basic attitudes are formed. Also more laws are passed governing the family, than any other social organization." His talk was very interesting and in closing he invited each student to visit the Children's home just west of the campus at the city limits of Waverly.

Tuesday, Nov. 4

The Home Economics club had charge of the student convocation on Tuesday. Their theme for the program was "The Art of Dining". A dining table was set on the stage and Edwin Schick, Berdine Reuther, Joyce Martens and Vernon Stremke proceeded to give the students a demonstration on the etiquette of the dinner table. Before the demonstration, Dean Fritz pointed out that there is a great difference between just eating and dining. This quartet of students proceeded to show us the proper way to conduct ourselves at the table.

Wednesday, Nov. 5

President Braulick was the speaker for the convocation period on Wednesday. His remarks can be summed up in his statement "The things that count with God are the heart and soul, completely in tune with God's teachings. Not clothes and external actions".

Friday, Nov. 7

The last convocation football pep meeting of the year was held on Friday. The cheerleaders were in charge and presented a varied program of cheers, music by the little German band and songs of the college songs. It was a rousing send-off for the Knight football team which played the Upper Iowa Peacocks Saturday afternoon.

RADIO PLAYLET ON BROADCAST

A radio playlet entitled "The Amazing Cosmopolite" by Marcus L. Bach, was presented on the third Wartburg radio broadcast from station WOI on Thursday, Oct. 30.

Originating in the Wartburg studios, the program was announced by Prof. Don Tomquist, head of the speech and dramatics departments here.

The stress of the Wartburg loyally song played on the new organ in the studio introduced and closed the half-hour program.

Arthur Becker of Waverly played a flute solo, "Impromptu Caprice" by Henry Hall. He was accompanied on the piano by George Helmkamp of Los Angeles, Cal.

Present Play

Four members of the Wartburg Players then presented the radio playlet "The Amazing Cosmopolite", a dramatic satire on the hypocritical Christianity in the United States today. Those taking part were Edwin Neumann, Waverly; Bob Wiedersanders, Waverly; Dorothy Brandt, Denver, Ia.; and Bertrand Petrick, Appleton, Wis.

Arthur Becker than played another flute solo, "Intermezzo" by Provost. George Helmkamp accompanied him.

The men's quartet sang a medley, "Cornfield Melodies" to close the broadcast. The men in the quartet are: Karl Landgrebe, Readlyn, Ia.; Hans Sandrock, Bellevue, Ia.; Alfred Walck, St. Paul, Minn.; and Richard Bunge, Menno, S. D.

Monona High school's 45-piece band directed by Mr. Whitcomb will be on the Wartburg broadcast Nov. 13. The Monona girls chorus and a mixed chorus of thirty voices directed by Miss Dunlap will also have part in the program.

The broadcast on Thanksgiving day will be by transcription. Immediately after the broadcast Nov. 13, the Thanksgiving program will be transmitted to station WOI by telephone, Nov. 27. However, the broadcast will not be at the usual time from 4:00 to 4:30 o'clock, since the time schedule of station WOI will be changed. The program for this broadcast will include singing of Thanksgiving hymns by the Wartburg mixed octette and girls trio. A short talk will be given by Rev. R. C. Schlueter.

Grainger: A Great Personality

—Independent Staff Photo

Percy Grainger, famed Australian-American pianist, made a hit with all who heard and saw him in his appearance in Waverly last week.

He's seen here, left, in conversation with Prof. A. W. Swensen, chairman of the Wartburg college Artists' series committee.

CO-EDS EXPRESS THEIR VIEWS

(ACP)—That familiar picture of a gloomy, bewildered college youth is headed for the museum wall, if results of a survey of coed opinion at the University of Texas may be believed.

The poll, questioning a representative group of 643 frosh coeds to be possessors of definite opinions on everything from politics to hair-ribbons.

Careers are all right in their places, they say, but that place is immediately after graduation. More than half of the women students want a job the first year out of college, but, looking 10 years ahead, they're practically unanimous in voting for a home and family. Incidentally, that family will probably be one of from three to seven children. Statistics may show that the average American couple has only one child but Texas girls choose three as the best number.

The draft is changing the plans of many university students, but Texas girls aren't opposed to it. They aren't specially enthusiastic either, but they rank themselves as "taking resigned—recognizing the necessity for military training. They want to do their part in defense, too, but they'd prefer it in the medical or nursing service and in home defense units.

But while they are conscious of national problems, they aren't too preoccupied to take account of clothes and appearance and interior decoration. They shout down the popular notion that co-ed dormitory rooms are a nightmare of party favors, college pennants, unmade beds. The style in room decoration, the poll declares, is distinctly utilitarian. Bureau drawers, an impressive number say, are organized on a system. There is, however, a shameless minority which admits living in a room that is a "scramble."

Even in this modern age, "mother knows best." At least 75 per cent of Texas girls declare that they discuss most of their problems—dates, careers, love, religion—with their mothers. But they want to bring the subject up; no "prying" allowed.

Believe it or not, if a choice were forced upon them, they'd take a good mind over good looks —two-to-one! But they're willing to work on their looks—even if they do say that the motive behind their campus clothes is comfort not a desire to impress anyone.

The average yearly clothes budget is about $300. That takes care of those saddle oxfords, socks, skirt and sweater for campus, as well as something fancier for dates. In the "glamour game," they'll take perfume, tailored clothes, a startling coiffure, and a good conversational "line."

Sixty-three per cent think the morals of college students are about as good as those of young people at home. Fifty-three per cent attend church occasionally, 35 per cent regularly.

YES, IT WAS WRITTEN, BUT

"Are you sure it's here? When did she bring it down? Well, for Pete's sake, where is it; we've gotta have it." And thus consternation and confusion reigned in the Trumpet camp last issue when one of our star reporteresses' stories failed to appear. Every place we looked, even under tables and desks, under typewriters, on the floor, in drawers, yes, even in the wastebasket, but still no story. Well, what could we do—the Trumpet must go to press.

Trumpet went to press and came from press but still no story by Leicher. When we finally approached her on the subject she replied that she had TOO written the story, and had had it delivered by another girl who promised to put it in the office. The other girl found the door to the office locked so she slid the paper under the door.

(Well, right there we began to smell a rat as the saying goes—because the Trumpet office has no lock on it!)

So we did more investigationing (all but called in detectives) and what do you suppose the outcome was? Well 'stew bad people around here don't find out where we do all this journalizing!

Lorrie had slid the papers under the door of the museum rather than our beloved Trumpet office.

—And that's the last time Frannie will have Lorraine deliver a story for her!

BACK WARTBURG!

Back Wartburg! That's been the cry during the football season, even when the going was rather tough for our boys. They have been giving their best and that would be reason enough for backing them.

Back Wartburg! That's our plea to all you former grads and students, regardless whether you had your collegiate training at Eureka, St. Paul, Clinton or Waverly. Back Wartburg because she is giving her best in the service of the Church under the limitations which have been imposed by the Church itself. We need offer apologies to no one for the ideals for which she stands, for the things which she has to offer and for what she hopes to be. Here in the midwest Wartburg is OUR college. And as surely as she is carrying out a definite Christian assignment and seeking to do it in a Christian spirit, it is both our Christian-given privilege and obligation to share in that work.

Therefore let's back Wartburg with our personal interest, with willing helpfulness and even with constructive criticism rightly directed. Let's back Wartburg by filling her halls with our sons and daughters in ever increasing numbers.

—Theo. L. Fritschel, President
Wartburg Alumni Association.

ALUMNI

Edgar Jahr, who has been working as a salesman for Decker Brothers of Mason City, is now back in his home town of Winterset, Iowa, high school. Paulus Heist, student at Wartburg from 1935-37, is teaching at Carthage, Ill. Geerthude Grosshans, of the class of '39, taught in Iowa and is now at Harlsburg, Ill. And, four former Wartburgers are singing in the choir of St. Paul's Lutheran church at Farmersburg, Iowa. They are Mrs. Bertha Wilharm Adix, '27 (Wartburg Normal), Fernc Oelke, '40, Margaret Schlueter, '41, and Wilma Witte, '41. Elmer Kemper '36 has been appointed principal of the East Chain Consolidated school at Gladstein, Minn. And Immanuel Leschensky! — he's teaching at Carenovis, Wis., and looked the part at Homecoming.

Margaret Hebmler, '24 (Clinton) is teaching commercial subjects at Bellevue, Iowa.

Along a very different line, Walter Pfeffer, '37, is the father of a son, and a very proud father at that. "Pfeff" is stationed at Young, Saskatchewan, Canada.

Otto Matthias, '39, is interning at Alta Lama, Texas, while Leonard Fritschel, same year, is interning at Fort du Lac, Wis., with Rev. John Becker, father of the twins and Ben Ackerman, also of that class, is interning at Peoria, Ill.

Rev. Leonard Domke, '38, is pastor at Hiehmoon, S. Dak., and of course, we can't forget our old friends in Uncle Sam's uniforms. Here is information on some of them, which has been received: Paul Schartt, '40, 49th Pursuit Squdron (?) AFCC, March Field California; Dale Matthias, '41, (working as typist in Station Chaplain Emil Redman's '27 office) Outgoing Units, USNYS Great Lakes, Ill.; Gerald Fahrenholz, '37-39, USN hospital, Corpsmen's Quarters, Great Lakes, Ill.; John Emmons, '40, Co. D, 1st Inf., 6th District, Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.; Robert C. Hiskie, '38-39, Air Corps Training Detachment, Palo Alto Airport, King City, California; Egbert Wagner, '39, is at the Naval Air base, Jacksonville, Fla., where, incidentally, he is doing unusually well at flying. Mr. Wagner taught two years at Garrison, Iowa. Jerry Jackson, '40-41, who is also at Great Lakes, has been home from boot training, furlough, and Lester Bischoff, '39-'41, is at Camp Claiborne, La.

Finally, Charlotte Becker, class of 1920, for many years a faithful worker as secretary of the Alumni Association, our benefactors, has submitted her resignation. Irene Drewelow, '41, now teaching at Denver, Iowa, has been appointed her successor.

By a vote of 323 to 51, students at Catawba college have voted to change the name of their yearbook, The Swastika.

Emory University was named for Bishop John Emory of Maryland.

Alumni Head

Rev. Theo. Fritschel, '11, New Hampton, Iowa, elected president of the Wartburg College Alumni Association at the meeting last June, has a message for all alumni on the editorial page of this issue of the Bulletin.

Seminary Notes

Wartburg Seminary, Dubuque, had eight representatives at the Land O'Lakes Regional conference at Ames and the Hub Regional conference at Iowa City of the Lutheran Student Association held on Nov. 7-9.

Norbert Boer, Mission Secretary of the Land O'Lakes Region, Dr. A. A. Jagnow, Charles Schmitz and Elmer Henrichs, official representative of the Seminary together with four University of Dubuque students went to Ames. Hildegard Salzmann, U. of Ia., led one of the Forums Saturday morning, 10:45, on a phase of Christian Living. Charles Schmitz was counselor. Mr. Boer led one of the afternoon groups in discussing duties and responsibilities of Mission Secretaries with Dr. Jagnow as counsellor.

Dr. J. Bodensieck, Carl Kalkwarf, Eugene Leschensky and Albert Dillemuth attended the Hub Regional conference at Iowa City. Dr. Bodensieck led the Bible Study Hour on Saturday and Sunday.

REV. FANGMEYER TO BE INSTALLED

Rev. Otto Fangmeyer will be installed as assistant to Pastor R. C. Schiefen at St. Paul's Lutheran church Sunday morning during the English service which begins at 10:30 o'clock. The sermon and installation will be by Rev. H. W. Siefkes of Monona, president of the Iowa district of the American Lutheran church, who will be assisted in the installation by Pastor Schiefen.

Mr. Fangmeyer, formerly of Beeville, Tex., and a native of Nebraska, arrived in Waverly Thursday.

Rev. Fangmeyer attended Wartburg college in Clinton, and graduated from there in 1931. He took his theological work at the Wartburg Seminary at Dubuque and received his M. S. T. degree in 1935. He took his first pastorate at Beeville, Texas, and was located there until he accepted the present call. He arrived in Waverly Thursday of this week, and will be joined by his family sometime during the latter part of this month.

The Student Senior, Mr. Werner Sydel has announced that in an unusually large number of preaching calls have come in this fall, thus far. On the average, about nine calls per Sunday have been filled with calls running as high as thirteen on some Sundays, and from as far away as Kansas City, Mo. Busses, trains and cars have been used for transportation.

The Seniors have been filling all calls thus far. The Middlers may take over after Christmas when Seniors possibly receiving a few calls after Easter. Student Senior Spiegel distributes the calls as they come in.

PLAN CHRISTMAS MUSIC PROGRAM

A civic Christmas music program which will be sponsored by Wartburg college is planned for the evening of Sunday, Dec. 14. The place of presentation has not yet been chosen.

The committee in charge of arrangements consists of Prof. E. Liemohn, chairman, Miss Fay Shield, Mrs. V. C. Ohlrogge, Mrs. Frank Holloway, and Vern Shield.

All vocal groups in the city will be asked to contribute numbers on the program. It is hoped that this musical evening will revive the old Waverly Christmas tradition of presenting an oratorio such as Handel's "Messiah" or something similar.

NEIL KINGSLEY TO BUILD NEW AIR STATION

Former Student, Now Lieutenant, Starts Big New Job.

Waverly's Neil Kingsley, who attended Wartburg college from 1928 to 1930, and now a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy, has been named Resident Officer in Charge of Construction for the new naval air station on Whidbey Island! Which is another way of saying "local boy makes good" because Neil's new job amounts to being construction boss on a fifty million dollar project for which four million dollars is available "on initiation." Ultimately the station is expected to be one of the major ones on the west coast.

Neil is remaining in Seattle until construction begins and then will move to the island, a narrow strip of land lying almost the full length of Puget Sound. At present he is supervising preliminary design of the facilities scheduled. Building is to begin when the government completes proceedings to acquire some 4300 acres of land in the island.

Help Build at Seattle

Since September of 1940 Neil has been Public Works Officer at the naval air station in Seattle, in charge of the building of the station having been more than doubled. His duties included contact work of construction and also undertaking of minor items of construction and station maintenance with a civil service account.

After graduating from the Waverly high school and the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Neil took advanced work in civil engineering at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy, N. Y., and in 1939 was awarded a masters degree by that school. Fifteen days later, he began a tour of the district which construction activity embraces the Pacific northwest and Alaska. His first work was on the Puget Sound Navy Yard, then he became planning officer for short construction at district headquarters in Seattle.

Compliments

The unprecedented expansion of the navy building program placed a heavy load on the Navy's civil engineer corps from this group, limited to two per cent of the line officer strength of the Navy, had only about 120 officers. But this great responsibility also meant a very favorable professional position for the younger men since they were given work normally performed by officers several years their senior. The Corps has since expanded by in-

PERCY GRAINGER THRILLS LARGE LYCEUM CROWD

Renowned Pianist Presents Varied Program Oct. 27.

Percy Grainger, world-famous Australian-American pianist and composer, appeared before a large audience in St. Paul's parish house Monday evening when he presented the first number of the Wartburg Artists' series. He went directly into his recital with an explanation of the diversity of Bach's contacts and resulting musical expression. The scheduled program for the evening was as follows:

I.

Prelude and Fugue, D Major—Bach-Busoni.

Partita, No. 1 B flat major—Bach.

II.

Symphonic Studies, Op. 13—Schumann.

III.

Norwegian Folksongs and Peasant Dances ("Slaater") set by Grieg.

Cattle-call (Kulok), Op. 66, No. 1.

Gibcen's Bridal March, Op. 72, No. 1.

"Deep in Thought I Roam" ("Ieg gaar i tanker Tenker") (Andante religioso), Op. 66, No. 16.

Grendine's Cradle-Song, Op. 66, No. 19.

Jon Vaestafae's Spring Dance, Op. 72, No. 2.

"In Ola Valley, by Ola Tarn" ("I Ola-Dalom, i Ola-Kjonn"), Op. 66, No. 14.

"Rotnamsstut", Halling, Op. 72, No. 7.

IV.

A Dream of Love, (Libestraum) No. 3, Liszt.

"Islamey", Oriental Phantasy—Balakirev.

Encores.

In the first portion of his program he used his own arrangement of an old English Shepherd's dance as an encore. His use of correct English with a soft voice contrasted greatly with the strength of his playing. As his encore in the second portion he played Debussy's "Moonlight." A popular folk dance by a Canadian composer was his encore at the end of the third portion. He used the "Creole Song" as an encore for the fourth portion of the program.

Grainger returned, after most of the audience had despaired of hearing the composer play his own best-known composition, "Country Gardens," to play this number, thus finishing the recital in a friendly and pleasant atmosphere.

Grainger Interviewed.

Local men who spent much time with Grainger after the recital found him extremely intelligent and well-informed, courteous and modest, with definite opinions concerning the world and its affairs. They stated some of his characteristics and beliefs as follows:

He doesn't drink or smoke. He eats dark bread but doesn't eat meat. He gets plenty of exercise and practices a great deal. He says he has no spare time, keeping busy with practice, concerts, writing music, founding a museum of music in Australia, his native country, and the writing of a dictionary of music.

He lives in the town of Springfield, Mo., which he selected for his home because it had no factories.

He believes that the test of a great piano player is his ability to play loudly.

SEEK MAN WHO ATTEMPTS TO MOLEST GIRLS

The problem of stopping or catching the man (believed to be a local resident) who has pursued two girls in northwest Waverly recently was brought up at the city council meeting Tuesday night by councilman A. A. Aardal.

Aardal reported that a second offense had occurred Sunday evening about 8:30 p. m., after Dorothy Krueger of Clinton, a Wartburg junior had left the Aardal home on Fourth Ave N. W. to go to the college campus.

Miss Krueger noticed this man following her, and walked more rapidly, only to have him increase his pace as well.

Finally she ran in order to escape from him. The man wore an "old station type" cap and blue overalls.

Previously Margaret Cornils had been approached by a man who lunged at her as she was walking along First Ave. N. W. two weeks ago.

"MORE FATAL THAN WAR"

That's Situation on U. S. Highways, Safety Man Says.

Highway accidents are "more fatal" than war, Frank Ulish, field representative of the safety education division of the state department of public safety, declared in a talk to the Waverly Rotary club last week.

In England last year 40,000 persons were killed by Nazi bombs and 100,000 were injured—in the United States 38,600 were killed in our highways, and 1,500,000 were injured.

"War is feared and hated, yet highway fatalities are taken as a matter of course. It is time for the people to wake up and realize the cause of these accidents and to remedy them," he added.

He further stated that it was interesting to note that accidents seldom occur under conditions where "We sense Danger" such as on narrow bridges. This was further borne out by the fact that over 80 percent of accidents occur on straight roads, dry roads, and on clear days, while only a small percentage of them occur on curves, wet or slippery pavement. Foggy or snowy days because we sense the danger of driving under those conditions and use more care.

Ulish further stated that whenever we "divide" our attention while driving we "multiply" our accidents. This is proven by the fact that accidents more than double on week-ends and Holidays because of the "divided" attention while driving on those days.

Over 60 percent of our accidents are happening after sun down, and that 16 percent occur during the 2 hour period following dusk. Ulish suggested as a remedy "Slow down at Sun Down" and reduce night fatalities.

WILL DEDICATE DOUGLAS CHURCH

Three Services Are Planned Sunday, Nov. 16 With Guest Pastors.

St. John's Lutheran church in Douglas township is to be dedicated Nov. 16 according to plans announced by the pastor, Rev. R. H. Steege. There will be morning afternoon and evening services with dinner served at noon by women of the church.

The new church building, replacing the one which burned, is now complete except for painting and varnishing. Pews will be placed this week and other interior finishing done.

For the morning dedicatory service the speakers are to be Rev. Sigmund Sandrock of Bellevue and Rev. H. Raum of Crane Creek; for the afternoon the pastor's brother, Rev. Herbert Steege of Garnaville; for the evening, Rev. Paul Matthias of Clarksville. In the afternoon there will also be brief talks by visitors from neighboring churches and in the evening a recital on the church's new pipe organ.

Organizations

Debate Club

Although the season has just opened, the members of the Debate squad are preparing for their first tournament which will be held Nov. 14 and 15 at Iowa State Teachers college at Cedar Falls. Only freshmen and sophomore debaters are eligible for this tournament. The teams, however, have not been chosen. Those eligible are Albert Martin, Elsie Schick, Arland Martin, Victor Gold, George Reinke, Helen Rice, and Ray Saathoff.

The next big event on the debate schedule is the Peace oratorical contest, to be held Dec. 8, at Simpson college, Indianola, Ia. Those writing orations for this contest are Edwin Schlueter, Harry Stief, Edwin Neumann, and Emma Klein. An elimination contest will be held here during the last week in November.

Other important events on the Debate club calendar are: freshman-sophomore debate tournament held at the University of Iowa in February; Red River Valley forensic tournament at Concordia college, Moorhead, Minn., at which meets there will be chances of competition in oratory, extemporaneous argument, extemporaneous speaking and poetry reading, and also the state contest in March at which there will be divisions of debate, oratory, extemporaneous speaking, poetry reading, after dinner speaking, and extemporaneous speaking. Inter-conference debates have not as yet been scheduled.

W. A. A.

Plans are being made by the W. A. A. for the initiation of the new members. This will take place at a party in the future. With the basketball season coming up, the president Helena Begalske is making arrangements for regular practices each week. Definite action will be taken at the next meeting which will be this week.

WARTBURG PLAYERS

The Wartburg Players met in their monthly meeting Friday, Oct. 24. Business included reports from the play production committees. The latest committee received the club's appreciation on their work on the Dramatics club float which won third prize in the Homecoming parade.

It was decided to send complimentary tickets to the dramatic departments of the high schools in the surrounding towns. Also tryouts for "Kind Lady", the next production, and for "The Amazing Cosmopolite", the radio play which was aired October 30, were announced.

Entertainment was furnished by the new members, Marie Krueger, Gertrude Clemens, Elsie Schick, and Bob Wiederaenders who acted the parts of inmates of a feeble-minded institution.

LUTHER LEAGUE

On Sunday, November 2, the Wartburg Luther League met in the gymnasium for its monthly social meeting. Opening devotions were led by Llewellyn Hock with Lorraine Grosshans at the piano. During the business meeting, it was decided that the League would sponsor a supper to be given the same Sunday on which the Pre-The society chose to hold their candle-light service.

Fourteen Luther Leaguers, accompanied by Dr. Haefner, left Friday for Ames to attend the Lutheran Students Association meeting there.

A social hour followed the business meeting, and was in charge of Otto Seidl, Harry Stief, Helen Rice and Margaret Dornseif, entertainment, and Vernon Strempke, Joyce Martins, Arnold Rambe and Lois Pietz, refreshments.

PRE-THE

A special meeting of the Pre-The society was called because of Professor Salzmann's visit, in order that the pre-the students could benefit from the professor's vast field of experience. In an informal manner, he impressed upon the group the need of a solid foundation language, history, and philosophy in the ministry. Stressing a reading knowledge of at least two languages, he emphasized German because of its wealth of Lutheran material. A solid knowledge of references from the past and the ability to use sound judgment were quoted as invaluable to a pastor.

Professor Salzmann is to be quoted, "Students, you should strive for an intensive study life while here at Wartburg. There is such a wealth of opportunity within this institution. Enter the various religious functions as league, choir and Sunday school. The benefits are unlimited." After the meeting was adjourned the professor was available for private discussion.

Grossmann Hall

The Grossmann hall dormitory council held the second of its monthly meetings on Nov. 6 at 7:15 in the dormitory reception room. The council made special mention that recognition be made for the splendid decorating done by the Grossmann hall decorating committee at Homecoming. The committee was headed by A. Walck. Other members were Oswald Vorhimann, Arnold Wuertz, and Stuart Isaacson.

Grossmann Hallers will be glad to hear that several new pencil sharpeners are to be installed in the dormitory in the near future. Chairman Behrens brought back the report from President Siebert that light and shaving shelves will be placed in the lavatories at some early date.

W. CLUB

At the first meeting of the W Club on Tuesday evening, Oct. 14, the following officers were elected: President, Lester Bergmann; Vice-president, Marvin Peterson; and Secretary, Doc Schafer. Meetings are held regular on the second Tuesday of each month. The next meeting is scheduled for Nov. 11.

The first activity of the year for this organization was the printing and selling of the Homecoming booklets. Plans for the future include such noteworthy projects as the purchasing of sweaters for every "two letter" senior graduating; also the securing of a "college night" for Wartburg students at the bowling alley. The W Club also announces that their Sunday evening supper will be served on the evening of Feb. 12.

TINY TIPS

By TIPSY

Once upon a time, long, long ago . . . maybe last Sunday . . . Dorothy Grover, the freckle-faced little nymph with the cute dimples, was dining with a certain manly male in the beautiful Bemrock room at the Tiny Club. While she was eating her soup, she found a fly (tsk, tsk) "Waiter," she chirkened, "remove this insect!" Tommy the very obliging host hurried to her assistance, and threw the poor boy out the back door.

Tommy, or maybe we had better say Mr. Tiny, the manager, really ought to know better, because he has been in business for a good many years. He is fond of telling about his experiences, too. There is no sense in getting personal right here, but there is just one little item I would like to mention concerning Tommy's past. Someone who had heard him tell his tales has figured out that if Tommy has actually done everything that he says he has done, (not that we doubt or anything) and has done it for as long or he says he has done it—he is now 130 years old. My, you carry your years well, Old Man. You must eat our meals at the Tiny Club.

That little snow fall that blew in last week may have looked good to most of us, but to Eulalia it was a poor substitute for a Shauer. But then, why talk about the weather at all? It is always good weather to drop in at the Tiny Club, weather you know it or not.

A certain Wartburg freshman got his upper-classman date out of the way but recently—last night, for instance.

We have learned that the heads of the speech and culinary departments have joined the pinball circuit.

A group of Wartburg's young socialites had a "hot" time at the Pietz mansion one very recent Friday night. So hot in fact that the local fire-ladders were summoned. It is rumored that it all started when Raabe's pipe went on a rampage. That must have been fun. Wish I could have been there. We can't all have an experience like that, but we all can enjoy the good food, smiling service, and pleasant surroundings of the Tiny Club.

Peacocks Win Over Wartburg 7-6

WARTBURG TEAM DROPS FINALE BY EXTRA POINT

Captain Langholz Goes Over for Knight Touchdown.

Completely outplayed the first half, the Wartburg Knights came back with renewed vigor after the intermission, but their determined rush fell short as they lost their last football game of the season to the Upper Iowa Peacocks 7 to 6.

Captain Rudy Langholz scored Wartburg's touchdown late in the fourth quarter on a beautiful end-around play from the eight yard line. He had Kirkland's pass for the extra point in his hands but dropped it to give Wartburg's traditional rivals a lucky win.

The Peacock's touchdown was made in the second period when Jeffries plunged through center from the three yard line. Lind successfully kicked the extra point which proved to be the margin of victory.

From the statistical point of view the two teams were equally matched. Wartburg gained a total of 112 yards from scrimmage to 122 for the Peacocks, even though they were outmatched 7 to 3 in first downs.

Fumbles marred the offense of both teams early in the game. Upper Iowa took the opening kickoff but lost the ball when Captain Langholz recovered a subsequent fumble on their 30. Kirkland had gained 7 yards on Wartburg's second play of the game when he fumbled and Upper Iowa recovered.

Starting lineups:

Wartburg		Upper Iowa

Officials: Referee, Gordon Meeker. Grinnell; Umpire, George Norris, Parsons; Head Linesman, E. L. Fisher, Iowa.

HEAVY SPARTANS SMASH LINE TO WIN 19 TO 6

Wartburg Running Attack Scores in Fourth Quarter.

Playing before a chilled crowd that enjoyed the sliding and slipping of the players on a soaked field more than the actual football, Wartburg bowed 19-6 to a championship-bound Dubuque squad in an Iowa conference game Saturday at Dubuque.

The wet field was especially damaging to the lighter Knights whose main hopes of victory rested on an offense through the air.

By sheer power through the center of the line, Dubuque scored in the first, third, and fourth stanzas. The Spartan one-man combination of Schiers and Sellergren was responsible for all their scoring.

Wartburg pushed over their only counter of the game in the fourth quarter. Beautiful running by Obenauer and Herron advanced the ball from mid-field to the 5 yard stripe. From there Obenauer hurtled over the line for the touchdown. Kirkland's kick for extra point was low.

The Knights missed a scoring chance early in the game, after Dubuque fumbled Kirkland's opening kick-off, and Schafer recovered for Wartburg on Dubuque 20. The Knights failed to gain on the ground so Herron attempted a pass only to have it intercepted and returned 40 yards.

With this victory Dubuque gained second place in the conference. They have won five games and lost one.

Discuss Why New Lamp Posts Were Installed Here.

And so they requisitioned for eight new lamp posts. Why? "To shed more light on the subject," someone said.

More light? Yes, the world is looking for more light in these troublesome times, but new lamp posts on Wartburg's campus won't help.

"Then perhaps it's because we have been hiding our candle under a bushel."

Well, no! That statement is in regard to a mere candle. It has no connection with turning searchlights on the campus.

"Back home on the farm, where I come from, we keep the light on in the henhouse all night to keep the hens laying on a 24 hour shift. Is Wartburg going on a 24 hour shift?"

You might have something there! There have been enough eggs laid around here, as far as that goes. But still, we certainly don't want that to go on a 24 hour shift. One, two, three, shift ! ! ! I mean . . . What were you saying?

"I was just wondering if the grass would grow better by electric light."

No, no, no. Richelmaster would not stand for that. He has to mow the lawn too often the way it is. He wouldn't have permitted the lamp posts to be installed if that were the case. Besides Aristotle didn't say a word about it.

"Well, all right then."

He said, "Experience is the best teacher." But that's got nothing to do with it—well, it has after all.

"What do you mean?"

Ever since Jimi Wagner became feature editor of the Trumpet, she has had trouble identifying the couples walking about on the campus. She can dig up more gossip with the new lamp posts. I'll bet she's at the bottom of the whole business.

On Sunday, Nov. 16, Dr. Hiltner will travel to Harmony, Minn., to be the guest speaker at the observance of their golden jubilee. He will give the sermon in the morning service and will address the ladies' aid society in the afternoon. Rev. Alfred Mardorf, a graduate of Wartburg college in 1936, is pastor there.

"Wartburg loses a thriller to Western Union." The Knights amass a total of 21 points (the highest in Wartburg's Iowa conference history), but Western Union gives us 28 counters. That's two-way the recent Wartburg-Western Union game was recorded in the books, and that's the way the matter rests.

Unknown to many, however, that is not the way the game should have been reported. Unknown to many, Wartburg would have won that game 27 to 26 had they not suffered a break that shouldn't have happened to a dog. Had not an official inadvertently blown his whistle to nullify a Knight touchdown the game would have gone to Wartburg, Wartburg's 1941 team would have received additional prestige, and Coach C. C. Van Dyke would not have missed several nights of sleep.

The particular situation referred to occurred late in the fourth quarter. Western Union was leading 20 to 21. The Eagles were on the offensive, and trying to increase the score, they passed on Wartburg's 20 yard line. Bill Hughes, reserve right halfback for Wartburg, had other ideas. He neatly intercepted the pass and raced 80 yards for what appeared to be the winning touchdown. On the play, however, the referee blew his whistle, called back the play, gave the ball to Western Union and penalized them for backfield in motion. Also on the play was a holding penalty against Western Union. That nullified Wartburg's touchdown, and the Eagles kept their lead to win.

As far as we have discovered, the referee was not on legal ground. Of course, when he blew the whistle, the ball became automatically dead, but when he blew his whistle he was following high school, not college, rules. And the game, we believe, could hardly be called a high school contest.

Why, according to common-sense principles of football, Wartburg should not have had their choice of either the penalty or the touchdown we have been unable to figure out. Was that a break or was that a break?

LANDWEHR'S PROCLAMATION.

Astounding! Surprising! We can't figure it out! That was our reaction to Richard Landwehr's recent decision. Dick, you know, is that handsome Ashton kid in the Knight football line. Well, we'll tell you, and perhaps you can make him change his mind. Dick Landwehr has decided against professional football. His career, he says, is more important than all the fame and money he could earn in the ranks of the professionals.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Who will be the Knight basketball captain? Has Miss Bernadine Mayfield, that quiet little girl from Wisconsin, caught on to the general idea of football yet? Bud Kirkland's 93-yard runback on a Western Union kick stands as the longest scoring run in the conference this season . . . We hear that "Clark Gable" Scherle had some fun with Western Union Eagles. Ask him about it? We nominate Captain Langholz and Swede Peterson for conference recognition as a fine pair of ends . . .
